

Jennifer Hall is a Managing Director in Accenture’s Sacramento office. In her role as a Client Account Lead she supports clients in the State of California as well as the private sector. She is responsible for growing Accenture’s business and maintaining strong client relationships by bringing new ideas and new ways of working to help clients accelerate their strategic priorities. She is focused on driving an agenda of client co-innovation and establishing ongoing relationships with clients to evaluate and implement rapidly emerging technologies.

Jen is CalSTRS principal innovation consultant working on establishing an Innovation Program at CalSTRS. She has been working closely with the executive team to advance CalSTRS’ innovation priorities in the organization.

In her free time, she partners with several local non-profits and agencies with volunteer work to serve the greater community. These partners include Sacramento’s chapter of the National Charity League (NCL) where she is a grade level advisor for 30 freshman students as well as Women’s Empowerment which helps women transition into the workforce. She is also a long-time volunteer for Jesuit High School in Carmichael where she co-chaired their 2023 auction and is a member of their strategic planning committee.

Jen received her undergraduate degree in Finance with a second major in History from the Mendoza College of Business at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana. She is originally from Reno, Nevada where she is a fifth generation Nevadan. She is the mother of three children, one in college and two in high school. In her (limited) free time she enjoys travel, hiking (particularly around the American River) and reading.
